SAFESTRIP SYSTEM REFRESHER TRAINING SESSIONS

The Safestrip System is very easy to use, but as with all technology, to achieve the best results, training is essential. Annual refresher training is important due to the frequent turnover of labour and new operatives coming into the industry.

At your convenience our training instructor will come to your premises or to site to carry out the training session. The instructor will go through the Safestrip System instruction manual, referring to work examples of relevant projects we have experienced over the years. Operatives are encouraged to ask questions throughout the training session and will have the opportunity for a one-to-one chat with the instructor at the end of the session if they wish.

Each operative is given a photocopy of the instruction manual and issued with a laminated A4 and ID size training certificate showing the operatives photographs. Companies can provide their own photographs for the certificates (by providing them on disk or emailing them) or we can take the photographs after the training session. Certificates are posted directly to the company after the training session has taken place.
